Monitoring visit aims to help AUN/SEED-Net students review the progress of their study and provide living supports in different environment and context. The presentation by the secretariat including program activities, supports and financial regulations provides useful and updated information for students, advisors and faculty members. The highlight of JFY 2015 is the revision of "Student Handbook" and "Progress Report" which helps students to keep track on their study progress. Students also discuss with their peers on how to strategize their study in order to graduate in time. The outputs from discussion are shared with their advisors. Monitoring visit is important for AUN/SEED-Net to understand students' living and study so as to improve our Graduate Degree Program implementation in the future.
